How the Website Works

- HTML creates the structure and content of the webpage.
- CSS adds colors, backgrounds, spacing, fonts, shadows, and layouts.
- CSS Grid arranges the product cards and gallery images.
- Flexbox aligns the bakery logo and navigation links.
- Hover effects add interactive visual changes when the mouse moves over cards, images, and buttons.
- Media queries make the website responsive on different screen sizes.

Responsive Output

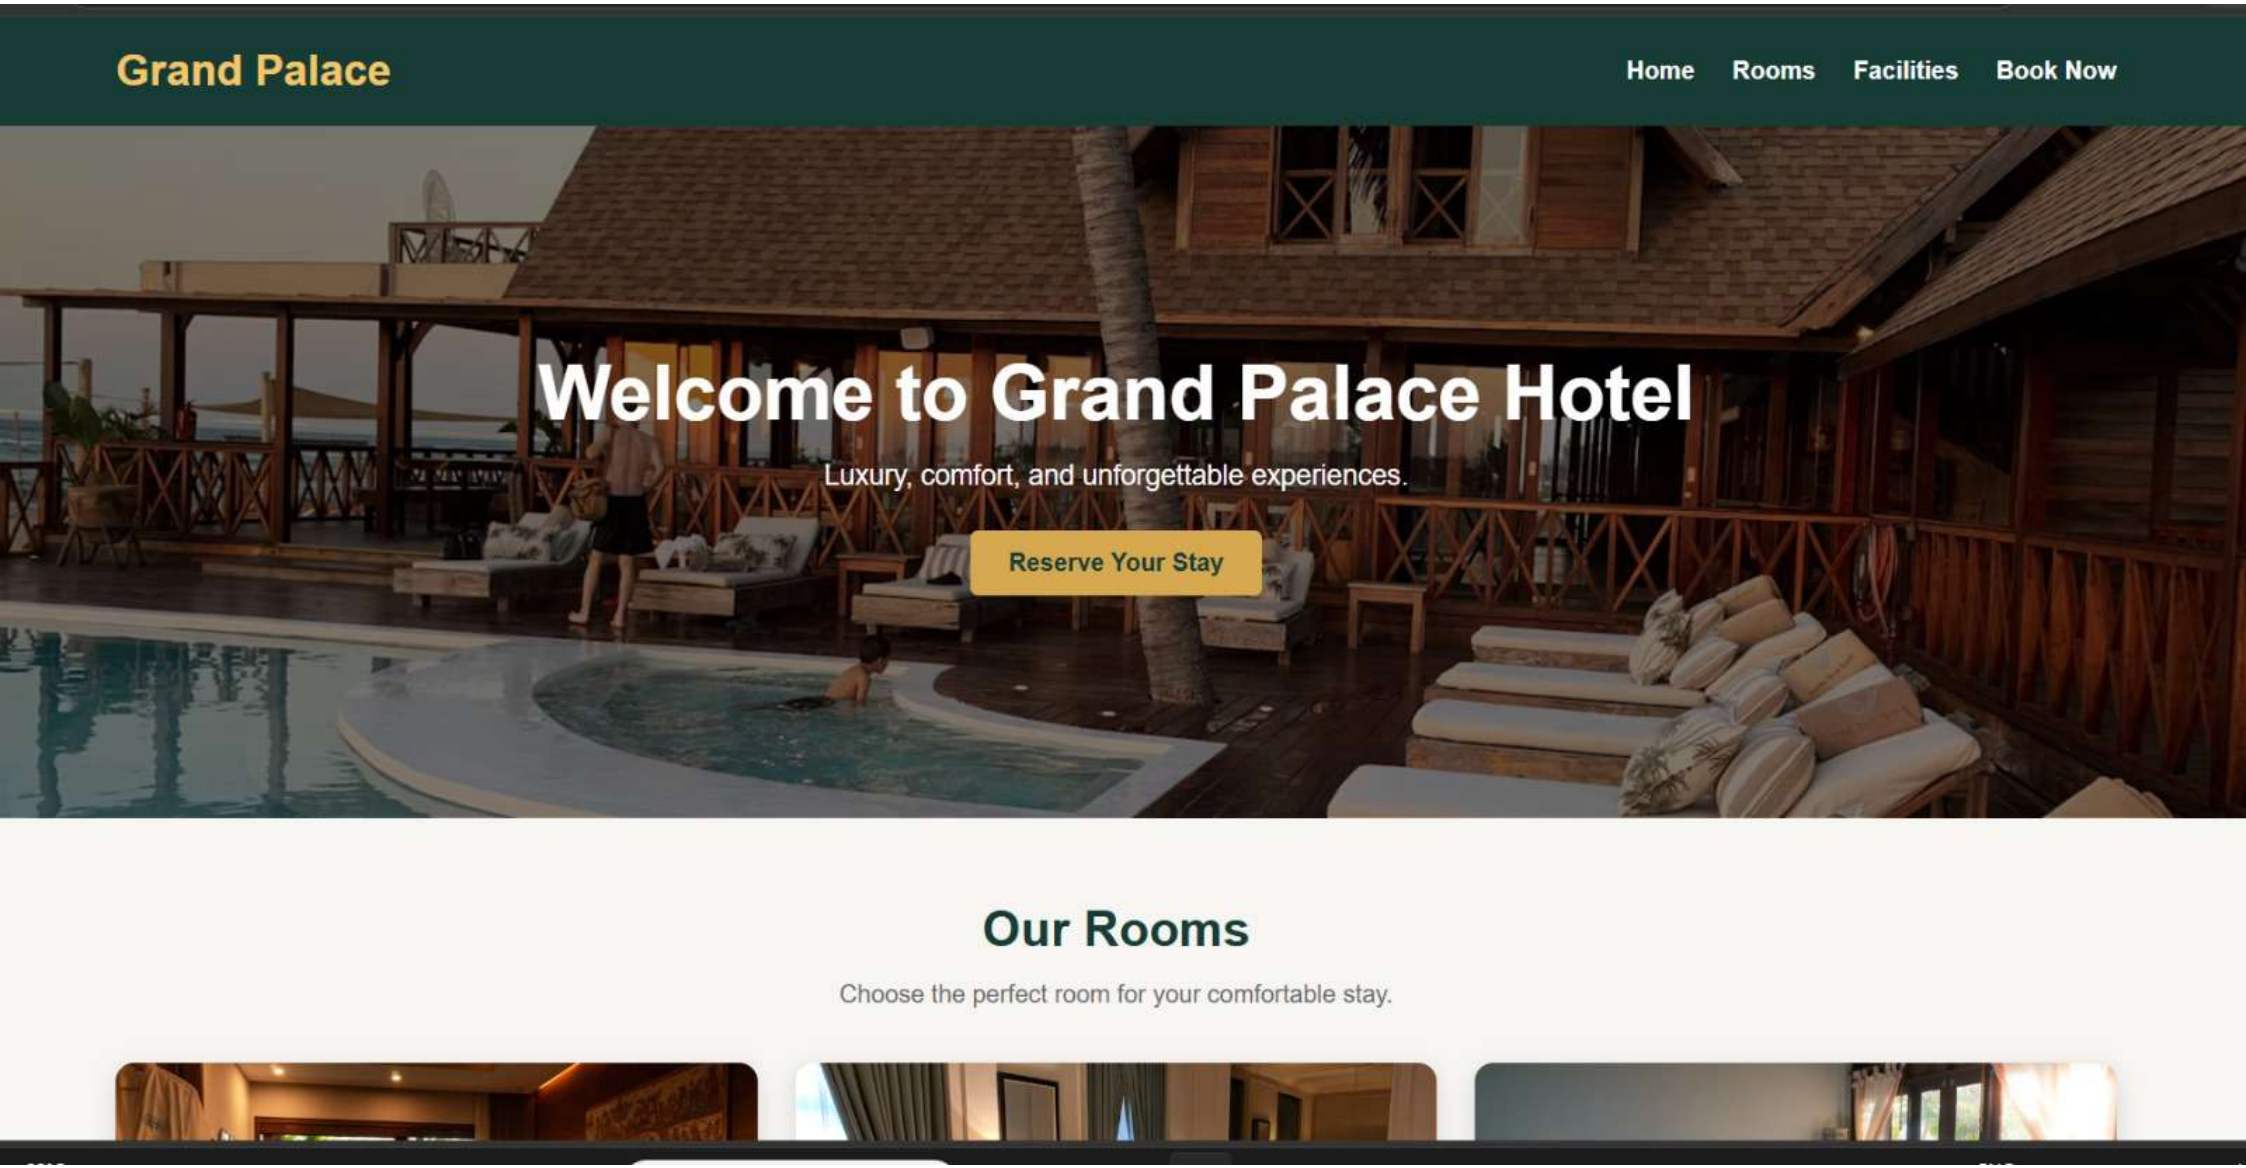

Screen size	Expected appearance
Desktop	Four product cards per row and three gallery images per row.
Tablet	Two product cards per row and two gallery images per row.
Mobile	One product card and one gallery image per row.

Conclusion

The final output is a complete bakery webpage with a pink-and-brown color theme and an attractive layout. It helps visitors explore bakery products, view prices, learn about offers, browse cake images, and find contact details. The navigation and buttons link to sections or external services, but the website does not include a real ordering or payment system.
